        The English army in Kiel must retreat to Denmark. The Italian fleet in the North Atlantic must retreat to Clyde. The Italian army in Budapest must retreat to either Vienna or Trieste.
The English orders to the army in Kiel and the fleet in Helgoland to support the fleet in Holland are not valid, because the fleet in Holland is not given orders to stay in Holland. All impossible moves are underlined.
        The Powers now control the following supply centers:
        ENGLAND: Berlin, Denmark, Holland, Liverpool, London, Norway,
St. Petersburg, Sweden. (8)

must remove one, and England must remove two, units. THE DEADLINE FOR WINTER 1906 MOVES ESTABLISHING OR REMOVING THESE UNITS IS SATURDAY 12 SEPTEMBER 1964.
        Misprint: In the Turkish moves in GRAUSTARK #32 (Spring 1906)
the move A Ser S A Bul-Rum was incorrectly printed as "A Sev S A Bul-Rum".
        With this issue of GRAUSTARK comes Trantor #1, the bulletin of the new postal Diplomacy game 1964D.

BUDAPEST: Now that the freedom fighters have regained control of this city, we are ready to advance towards Clyde to aid Prince Rupert of Bavaria in his attempt to regain control over Scotland - the land of his forefathers. We regret, however, that due to longterm treaties with Ireland, we must also respect the sovereign right of Ireland to one third of the Crown Jewels. Prince Rupert shall take one third, and the remaining one third shall help defray the cost of the Turkish campaigns.

CONSTANTINOPLE: Splash!

SERBIA: The Turkish army here seems exuberant at the opportunity to again prove itself in battle. For the last few years, the war seemed to be passing them by.

HELSINKI: A small band of Turks slipped through the English defences to the north coast of Estonia where they sailed from Tallinn to Abo in the southwest of Finland. They report that the people of Finland hate the English and want to see them driven out of Scandinavia. Our advance party also warns that the Finns have a distaste for Turks. It seems that the Finns simply want to be left alone.

CYPRUS: Tempers remain high in the Greek-Turkish conflict. Reports of a Greek blockade on certain Turkish positions. In order to aid the Turkish Cypriots, a fleet is to be readied in Smyrna as soon as is physically and politically possible.

HELSINKI (FLASH!): The advance band of Turks was uncovered and shot early this morning in a brothel in downtown Helsinki.

CONSTANTINOPLE (FLASH!): When government officials were approached re the Helsinki incident their sole comment was, "Win a few, lose a few."
